24 REQUEST FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE AS
25 TO MOTOROLA MOBILITY LLC'S
26 MOTION TO DISMISS AND MOTION
27 TO STRIKE THE COMPLAINT

28 [Assigned to the Honorable Jon S. Tigar]

Hearing Date: May 22, 2025
Time: 2:00 P.M.
Courtroom: 6

Complaint Filed: December 31, 2024

TO THE COURT, ALL PARTIES, AND THEIR COUNSEL OF RECORD:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE THAT, pursuant to Rule 201 of the Federal Rules of Evidence and relevant case law, Defendant Motorola Mobility LLC (“Motorola”) respectfully requests that this Court take judicial notice of the following documents (collectively, the “Exhibits”) or otherwise consider the Exhibits in connection with Motorola’s concurrently filed Motion to Dismiss the Class Action Complaint and Motion to Strike the Class Action Complaint.

- A. Motorola’s “Website Privacy Statement” as of May 1, 2023 (available at: <https://help.motorola.com/hc/apps/privacy/web/2023-05/en-us/>), which is referenced in the Complaint and which Plaintiff alleges is a contract between himself (and the putative class members) and Motorola. A true and correct copy of the Privacy Statement is attached hereto as Exhibit A, which was obtained on March 1, 2025, by Johnathan Coleman by accessing the URL described above, maximizing all sub-items, and printing the same to PDF. (See Coleman Decl., ¶¶ 2-5.)
- B. Motorola’s “Terms of Use” (available at: <https://www.motorola.com/us/en/legal/terms-of-use.html>), which is part of the contract Plaintiff alleges exists between himself (and the putative class members) and Motorola. A true and correct copy of the Terms of Use (“TOU”) is attached hereto as Exhibit B, which was obtained on March 1, 2025, by Jonathan Coleman by accessing the URL described above, maximizing all sub-items, and printing the same to PDF. (See Coleman Decl., ¶¶ 2 & 6.)
- C. California Bill Analysis, Assembly Committee, 2015-2016 Regular Session, Assembly Bill 929, a true and correct copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit C.
- D. The second amended complaint in the matter of Rodriquez v. Fountain9, Inc., pending in the Superior Court of California, for the County of Los Angeles, with a case number 24STCV04504, a true and correct copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit D.

The Court may take notice of Exhibits A and B because they are incorporated by reference into the Complaint. Exhibits A and B combine to form (at least a portion) of the written agreement Plaintiff alleges Motorola breached. As such, they are central to the Complaint and its claims. In fact Exhibit A (Motorola’s Website Privacy Statement) is repeatedly referenced throughout the

1 Complaint. Exhibits A and B are also appropriate for judicial notice as publicly available websites
 2 authenticity is not subject to reasonable dispute.

3 Likewise, the Court may take judicial notice of Exhibits C and D because they are public
 4 records of the legislature and/or judiciary, which are not subject to reasonable dispute and are 5 otherwise subject to judicial notice under applicable law.

6 I. LEGAL STANDARD

7 Where a Court considers material outside of the pleadings it need not convert a motion to 8 dismiss to a motion for summary judgment where the material is judicially noticed or incorporated
 9 by reference. Khoja v. Orexigen Therapeutics, Inc., 899 F.3d 988, 998 (9th Cir. 2018); Tellabs,
 10 Inc. v. Major Issues & Rights, Ltd., 551 U.S. 308, 322 (2007) (In ruling on a motion to dismiss, 11 “courts must consider the complaint in its entirety, as well as other sources courts ordinarily 12 examine when ruling on Rule 12(b)(6) motions to dismiss, in particular, documents incorporated
 13 into the complaint by reference, and matters of which a court may take judicial notice.”); Van
 14 Buskirk v. Cable News Network, Inc., 284 F.3d 977, 980 (9th Cir. 2002) (“Under the ‘incorporation
 15 by reference’ rule . . . a court may look beyond the pleadings without converting the Rule 12(b)(6)
 16 motion into one for summary judgment.”); Perkins v. LinkedIn Corp., 53 F. Supp. 3d 1222, 1240
 17 (N.D. Cal. 2014).

18 Under Federal Rule of Evidence 201(b), “[t]he court may judicially notice a fact that is not
 19 subject to reasonable dispute because it: (1) is generally known within the trial court's territorial 20 jurisdiction; or (2) can be accurately and readily determined from sources whose accuracy cannot 21 reasonably be questioned.” Fed. R. Evid. 201(b)(2).

22 “Proper subjects of judicial notice when ruling on a motion to dismiss include legislative 23 history reports; court documents already in the public record and documents filed in other courts;
 24 and publicly accessible websites.” Perkins v. LinkedIn Corporation, 53 F. Supp. 3d 1222, 1241
 25 (N.D. Cal. 2014); see also Anderson v. Holder, 673 F.3d 1089, 1094 n.1 (9th Cir. 2012)
 26 (“Legislative history is properly a subject of judicial notice.”); Johnson v. Pluralsight, LLC, 728 F.
 27 App'x 674, 676 n.3 (9th Cir. 2018) (granting plaintiff's motion to take judicial notice of five 28 exhibits, “each of which pertains to the legislative history of the [relevant statute]”); Aramark

1 Facility Servs. v. SEIU, Local 1877, 530 F.3d 817, 826 n.4 (9th Cir. 2008) (granting request for
 2 judicial notice of legislative materials); Holder v. Holder, 305 F.3d 854, 866 (9th Cir. 2002)
 3 (recognizing judicial notice is appropriate for documents filed publicly in other courts); *Daniels-
 4 Hall v. Nat'l Educ. Ass'n*, 629 F.3d 992, 998-99 (9th Cir. 2010) (taking judicial notice of “the list
 5 of approved 403(b) vendors displayed publicly on the respective web sites of the South Kitsap and
 6 El Dorado School Districts,”); Calhoun v. Google LLC, 526 F. Supp. 3d 605, 617 (N.D. Cal. 2021)
 7 (taking judicial notice of Google’s webpages, including its Privacy Policy, because “[t]hese
 8 documents appear on publicly available websites and are thus proper subjects for judicial notice.”);
 9 Pak’s Trading Eur. B.V. v. Target, 2018 WL 8333362, at *4 (C.D. Cal. July 5, 2018) (granting 10 request for judicial notice of screenshots from government website).

11 In addition to judicially noticeable material under Rule 201(b), courts treat certain 12 documents as though they are a part of the complaint itself. Under the “incorporation by reference” 13 doctrine, the court can “take into account documents whose contents are alleged in a complaint and 14 whose authenticity no party questions, but which are not physically attached to the plaintiff’s 15 pleading.” Knievel v. ESPN, 393 F.3d 1068, 1076 (9th Cir. 2005) (internal marks, citation, and 16 brackets omitted); Garcia v. Enter. Holdings, Inc., 78 F. Supp. 3d 1125, 1137 (N.D. Cal. 2015)
 17 (incorporating by reference Defendant’s privacy policy and terms of service in a California
 18 Invasion of Privacy Act case regarding the use of personal information on a web-based ridesharing
 19 application); see also Davis v. HSBC Bank Nevada, N.A., 691 F.3d 1152, 1160 (9th Cir. 2012) (A 20 court “may treat such a document as part of the complaint, and thus may assume that its contents
 21 are true for purposes of a motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6).”).

22 Finally, in reviewing a motion to dismiss, courts can consider evidence on which the 23 complaint “necessarily relies” if: “(1) the complaint refers to the document; (2) the document is 24 central to the plaintiff’s claim; and (3) no party questions the authenticity of the copy attached to 25 the 12(b)(6) motion.” Marder v. Lopez, 450 F.3d 445, 448 (9th Cir. 2006). And a plaintiff cannot 26 survive a motion to dismiss by strategically omitting references to documents upon which their 27 claims are based to avoid incorporation by reference. Parrino v. FHP, Inc., 146 F.3d 699, 705–
 28 706 (9th Cir. 1998). In Parrino, the Ninth Circuit explained that the extension of the incorporation

1 by reference doctrine to situations where documents are “crucial to plaintiff’s claims, but not
 2 explicitly incorporated in his complaint” was necessary to “[p]revent[] plaintiffs from surviving a
 3 Rule 12(b)(6) motion by deliberately omitting references to documents upon which their claims are 4 based.” Id. at 706.

5 II. ARGUMENT

6 A. Motorola’s Privacy Statement and TOU are Incorporated by Reference Into 7 the Complaint, Form the Basis of Plaintiff’s Claim for Breach of Contract, and 8 Are Otherwise Judicially Noticeable

9 Motorola’s Privacy Statement and TOU, (Exhibits A and B respectively), are incorporated
 10 by reference into the Complaint, and thus can (and should) be considered when evaluating 11 Motorola’s Motion to Dismiss and Motion to Strike. Specifically, the Complaint repeatedly 12 references the “Privacy Statement” (Ex. A), and in fact quotes portions of it verbatim. (See, e.g., 13 DE 1, ¶¶ 22, fn. 1, 33, 76, 146, 162-163, 165, 167, 170-171.) Moreover, the Complaint specifically
 14 alleges that the Privacy Statement constitutes an enforceable contract between Plaintiff and 15 Motorola, and bases his claim for breach of contract on that purported contract. (Id.) Plaintiff
 16 “necessarily relies” on the very contract he alleges was breached and refers to the alleged contract
 17 repeatedly. The alleged contract is central to Plaintiff’s contract claims, and the authenticity of the 18 copies attached as Exhibits A and B are not in question. As such, the alleged contract is certainly 19 incorporated by reference into the Complaint, and this Court can (and should) consider it when 20 considering Motorola’s Motion to Dismiss and Motion to Strike. See, e.g., Marder, 450 F.3d at 21 448; see also Knievel, 393 F.3d at 1076 (“We have extended the “incorporation by reference”
 22 doctrine to situations in which the plaintiff’s claim depends on the contents of a document, the 23 defendant attaches the document to its motion to dismiss, and the parties do not dispute the 24 authenticity of the document, even though the plaintiff does not explicitly allege the contents of 25 that document in the complaint.”) Plaintiff alleged that contract is comprised of the Privacy
 26 Statement (Ex. A), and it is thus incorporated by reference.

27 The TOU are likewise incorporated by reference as an additional portion of the same alleged 28 contract. A written instrument must be construed as a whole, and multiple writings must be

1 considered together when part of the same contract.” Nish Noroian Farms v. Agric. Lab. Rels. Bd.,
 2 35 Cal. 3d 726, 735 (1984) (citing Cal. Civ. Code §§ 1641-1642); see also, Motown Rec. Corp. v.
 3 Wilson, 849 F.2d 1476 (9th Cir. 1988) (when more than one writing relates to the same matter
 4 between the same parties, they are construed together); Arriagarazo v. BMW of N. Am., LLC, 64
 5 Cal. App. 5th 742, 748 (2021) (courts “consider the contract as a whole”). And “[w]here a writing 6 refers to another document, that other document becomes constructively a part of the writing, and 7 in that respect the two form a single instrument.” Language Line Servs., Inc. v. Language Servs.
 8 Assocs., LLC, No. C 10-02605 JW, 2011 WL 13153247, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 17, 2011).

9       Here, the TOU and Privacy Statement are two writings that are each part of the same alleged 10 contract governing Plaintiff’s use of Motorola’s website, with the TOU incorporating the Privacy
 11 Policy into itself as the policy governing Plaintiff’s use of Motorola’s Website. (Ex. B.) Because 12 the two documents are part of one alleged contract, they must be construed together when 13 considering Plaintiff’s breach of contract and related claims. Plaintiff cannot survive Motorola’s 14 Motion to Dismiss and Motion to Strike by strategically omitting references to one portion of the 15 alleged contract (specifically, the TOU) while focusing on another portion of the same alleged 16 contract (the Privacy Statement). Parrino, 146 F.3d at 705-706. The TOU (Ex. B), therefore,
 17 should also be considered incorporated by reference and should be judicially noticed. See, e.g.,
 18 Language Line Servs., Inc., LLC, 2011 WL 13153247, at *7; Motown Rec. Corp., 849 F.2d 1476.

19       Even if Exhibits A and B did not form the basis of Plaintiff’s breach of contract claim and 20 were not incorporated by reference, they would still be judicially noticeable, as they are properly
 21 authenticated screenshots of pages of Motorola’s Website, which is publicly available. See, e.g.,
 22 Daniels-Hall, 629 F.3d at 998-99; see also, Calhoun, 526 F. Supp. 3d at 617; Yoon v. Lululemon
 23 USA, Inc., 549 F. Supp. 3d 1073, 1079 (C.D. Cal. 2021) (granting judicial notice of screenshots of 24 website that plaintiff’s complaint “extensively discusses”); Love v. CCMH Fisherman’s Wharf 25 LLC, 2021 WL 1734924, at *2 (N.D. Cal. May 3, 2021) (“The website screenshots are subject to 26 judicial notice under the doctrine of incorporation by reference . . . .”). This Court should therefore 27 grant Plaintiffs’ Request with respect to Exhibits A and B and consider each when evaluating 28 Motorola’s Motion to Dismiss and Motion to Strike.

2       B. The California Bill Analysis and the Rodriguez Second Amended Complaint
 3       are Judically Noticeable as Legislative and Court Records, Respectively

4       The California Bill Analysis and the Rodriguez Second Amended Complaint, Exhibits C
 5 and D respectively, are both public records, which are appropriately judicially noticeable.
 6 Specifically, Exhibit C is the California Bill Analysis from the Assembly Committee on Privacy
 7 and Consumer Protection, dated April 21, 2015, pertaining to the California Invasion of Privacy
 8 Act. (See, Ex. C.) Included in the Bill Analysis are discussions of the pen register provision of 9 CIPA, which forms the basis of Plaintiff's fourth claim. (DE 1, 43:12-13.) "Legislative history is 10 properly a subject of judicial notice." Anderson, 673 F.3d at 1094 n.1; see also Perkins, 53 F. Supp.
 11 3d at 1241. Accordingly, this Court can take judicial notice of the Bill Analysis, which 12 demonstrates legislative intent regarding, inter alia, CIPA § 638.51. Exhibit D, meanwhile, is a 13 court record, publicly filed in the Los Angeles Superior Court. (See, Ex. D.) Records of other
 14 courts—even those of California state trial courts—are judicially noticeable. See, e.g., Holder, 305
 15 F.3d at 866.

16       Accordingly, Exhibits C and D are judicially noticeable.

17       III. CONCLUSION

18       For the reasons discussed herein, Motorola respectfully requests this Court to take judicial 19 notice of Exhibits A-D, and/or consider the Exhibits incorporated by reference and consider each 20 in evaluating Motorola's Motion to Dismiss and Motion to Strike.
